

THE SAGAS OF NoGGiN the NoG

Hi there,

Please find and pass on technical notes, lx plan, risk assessment etc. There are production photos enclosed and more are available on our website www.thirdparty.org.uk - follow the Noggin links. If you would like further hard copies posted to you, please call me.

Apologies if our pre-production estimates of timing at the stage they were last reported to you were a little out. It will run in two halves of around twenty-eight minutes plus a short interval.

There is one small pyrotechnic – a smoke puff - and three short bursts of haze in the second half. At the beginning of each half we do a routine where we go into the audience and pretend that someone is sitting in a lumpy seat, which we then hit with a sponge Viking type hammer. In the first half we pretend that the audience is the assembly of girls in the Royal Castle who would wish to be queen. We will engage with a couple of them – fathers or aunts probably. This is not the acme of humour but it is a gentle part of the action.

We are not exactly merchandising but as we want to promote the Noggin books we will be making some available alongside DVDs. These we would like to have on sale. They are not cheap to purchase so we will be selling them at close to cost – plus of course whatever percentage you apply.

Best regards,
